Tehran's Interim Friday Prayers Leader Ayatollah Mohammad Imami-Kashani

As President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad prepares to begin his second term in office, a leading cleric says the Iranian people deserve better treatment.

Tehran's Interim Friday Prayers Leader, Ayatollah Mohammad Imami-Kashani, urged the reelected Iranian President to pursue an agenda that would serve national interests.

"The Iranian people are kind-hearted and good, it is not right to cause them pain and distress," said Ayatollah Imami-Kashani. "The government should do everything in its power to be honest and truthful with the public."

President Ahmadinejad was officially sworn in for a second term in office on Wednesday, two days after receiving the endorsement of the Leader of the Islamic Revolution, Ayatollah Seyyed Ali Khamenei.

On another note, Ayatollah Imami-Kashani said that the Islamic and the Republican nature of Iran's political system are inseparable.

"The term 'Islamic Republic' is a consolidated term that cannot be broken into halves," said the senior member of the Assembly of Experts – a deliberative 86-member body tasked with electing and supervising the activities of the Leader of the Islamic Revolution.

Iranian deserve best of treatment and more than than WE expect the best of treatment, laws and etc. It is why minor achievements and gifts from powerholders never have been enough.

Dear Strange, I am responding to you from an American Muslim prespective about picture in Mosk. What does it matter to have picture or not? Did not the prophet use Mosk for every purpose? Picuter neith signifies or degrades any rules or preyer? Lets talk about serious issues such as Umma, helping poor and homeless and jobless? thank you.
