

modation on the eve of the formal negotiations.

The two sides also agreed that the stalled Sino-Soviet border talks, held intermittently and without success in Peking during the past nine years, also will be alternated between the two capitals.

Three Die in Clashes in Iran

TEHRAN—Two demonstrators were shot and killed when a crowd attacked the headquarters of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards in the Kurdish rebel stronghold of Mahabad, the newspaper Etelaat reported.

The attack followed a grenade explosion in the main square in which one person was killed and 20 injured.

Conference Picks Leader

GENEVA—Delegates at a world conference on future use of radio frequencies agreed on a chairman, ending a dispute that had held up the start of the meeting for three days. Western representatives accepted the choice of chief Argentine delegate Roberto Severini, the candidate backed by the nonaligned group of nations.

Death Asked for Macias

MALABO, Equatorial Guinea—The prosecution asked the death sentence for Francisco Macias Nguema, the ousted president of Equatorial Guinea, who is on trial for genocide.

About 500 people attending the trial cheered when the prosecutor sought the death sentence for genocide, massive assassinations, embezzlement, treason and systematic violation of human rights. He asked 100 more death sentences be passed against Macias for his alleged part in the killing of 100 people, whose names were read in court.

Zia Assails Democracy

ISIAMABAD, Pakistan — Military president Gen. Mohammad Zia Ul-Haq, hinting that the scheduled Nov. 17 election might be called off, said Western-style democracy had no place in the Islamic country.

Zia, who seized power in July 1977, said an election for a return to civilian rule is less important than national integrity.

Sites Set for Talks

MOSCOW—The Soviet Union and China jointly agreed to conduct their bilateral talks on improved relations alternately here and in Peking, Washington Post correspondent Kevin Klose reported.

The compromise on the site struck an important note of mutual accom-