The U.N. Human Rights Sub-Commission has expressed concern over the persecution of the Baha'i Community in Iran. The Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities in its recent meeting in Geneva adopted a resolution urging the U.N. Secretary General, Dr. Kurt Waldheim, to persuade the Iranian Government to prevent further attacks on the minority community and grant it religious freedom. The resolution was sponsored by eleven countries, including India.

U.N. body concerned about Bahai's in Iran

The U.N. Human Rights sub-commission has expressed "profound concern" over the persecution of Baha'i community in Iran, reports PTI.

The sub-commission on prevention of discrimination and protection of minorities, meeting in Geneva recently, said in a resolution that the persecution of Baha'is was "motivated by religious intolerance and a desire to eliminate the Baha'i faith".
